

Please visit NCAA.org/playcollegesports for information to help high school student-athletes successfully transition to college. Student-athletes are guided through current and upcoming initial-eligibility requirements, recruiting guidelines, and timelines for staying on track in high school.

All students hoping to play D1 or D2 college sports must register with the NCAA eligibility center to ensure they have met eligibility requirements for Division I and Division II schools.

Students should register prior to the end of their junior year.

2018-2019 Guide for the College-Bound Student Athlete

If you want to play NCAA Division I or II sports, you need to be certified by the NCAA Eligibility Center.

And that means you need to be more than a good enough athlete. You need to be a good enough student, too.

NCAA Division I requires 16 core courses August 1, 2016. 10 of those courses will be prior to your seventh semester. For most of your senior year.

Also, beginning August 1, 2016, Division II is required to graduate with a minimum courses.

If you don't meet the academic requirement to graduate, it's still possible to receive athletic scholarships. But you'll be stuck who wants that? For the full list of initial visit 2point3.org and make sure you'll have
